

Stenden University Qatar

Research Seminar 7

Dr. Alan S. Weber

Associate Professor of English

Weill Cornell Medicine – Qatar

Building Sustainable Healthcare Capacity in Qatar’s Knowledge Economy.

Abstract

The paper reviews Qatar’s recent healthcare capacity building milestones and efforts to develop sustainable healthcare growth through international partnerships, accreditation, Continuing Medical Education, Lifelong Learning, human capital development and knowledge production.

Biography

Dr. Alan S. Weber, PhD, is an expert on Arabian Gulf education working at Weill Cornell Medicine – Qatar specializing in the Medical Humanities, knowledge economies and sustainable growth. His recent books and book chapters include Ecological Theology and Environmental Ethics (2016), Springer Handbook of E-learning in MENA Region (2017), “Education, development and sustainability in Qatar” (2014), “The GCC youth unemployment problem: stagnation or progress?” (2013), and Tourism Development in the GCC States: Reconciling Economic Growth, Conservation and Sustainable Development (2018).

Date: 23 November 2016 (4-5pm)

Venue: Room 200, Stenden University Qatar